

The minimum number of distinct eigenvalues of a matrix with a given graph.

Bryan Shader, University of Wyoming

We discuss some recent work regarding the minimum number of distinct eigenvalues, and the minimum number of distinct principal eigenvalues of a matrix whose graph is G . Here a principal eigenvalue is an eigenvalue of any of the matrix's leading principle submatrices. Several open problems will be presented and discussed.

Keywords: distinct eigenvalues, combinatorial matrix theory