Learning Assistant (LA) Program in Mathematics
Fall 2020
Florida Atlantic University

Learning Assistants (LAs) are fellow undergraduate students who have been successful in the course for which they are an LA, are trained in pedagogy, and meet weekly with faculty to prepare. When LAs are woven into classes, they assist students in learning the material by applying pedagogical concepts to and effectively facilitating group work sessions among students.

MAC 1147 - PRECALCULUS & TRIGONOMETRY
This Fall, in the fully online sections of MAC1147, LAs will be assisting students with worksheets during group work sessions. These sessions/times can be found inside students’ Canvas shell and are held via Zoom. LAs for these sections are: Raymond Budoff-Kingsland, Steffano Martinez, and Sydnee Meriwether.

MAC 2210 - INTRODUCTION to CALCULUS
This Fall, in the online live lecture section of MAC2210, LAs will be assisting students with worksheets during group work sessions for the second hour of live lecture. LAs for this section are: Sydnee Meriwether, St. George Pennant, Tesla Radulovic, and Leon Rice.

MAC 2311 - CALCULUS I with ANALYTIC GEOMETRY
This Fall, there are three different modalities for Calculus 1: fully online, online live-lecture, and in-person. For the online live lecture sections of MAC2311, LAs will be assisting students with worksheets during group work sessions for the second hour of live lecture.
